LAS VEGAS TEEN JACE “THE ACE” MEIER
LEADING “ROOKIE OF THE YEAR” POINTS AFTER TWO RACES

IRWINDALE SEASON TO RESUME APRIL 28TH

Las Vegas, NV (April 19, 2007) – After two races in the Late Model Division at Irwindale Speedway, Jace “the Ace” Meier is the leading rookie, qualifying and finishing higher than any other rookies in both races and leading “Rookie of the Year” by 20 points. Meier is racing for Tim Huddleston’s High Point Racing team. Huddleston is a past Late Model division champion and owner of one of the top Late Model teams in Southern California.

“This is an entirely different style of racing compared to what I’m used to,” said Meier.

“It’s the first time I’ve ever raced on a half-mile track, or any track where the high line is the preferred line. It’s definitely been a learning experience.”

Both of Meier’s races have included more than 35 cars, a much bigger field than his prior races in Las Vegas. His next race is slated for April 28th. Making adjustments to the car, he’s looking for a strong finish.
